

Project-1-Retrospective(Scrumbags)

- After getting past the learning curve (for getting acquainted with Qt and Sqlite and SCRUM) our team got in rhythm after the 1st sprint. Ryan took the lead and helped us to figure out exactly which story each of us was working on. This leadership was critical in our progress and gave us all clarity in knowing exactly what we needed to do.
- We learned the importance of reading the prompt clearly. A couple of times we developed code that worked well but actually did not satisfy the requirements.
- We believe that we did a really good job at meeting frequently and communicating clearly about the best times to meet.
- We were a bit behind in the beginning, but quickly caught up with the requirements for the project, which helped us finish early and allowed us to test and fix bugs.
- Our set meeting times allowed our group to work productively and stay focused on what was required of each member by the next meeting.
